

BIOGRAPHY

CLARENCE SITZMAN, DVM

Dr. Clarence Sitzman received his BS in Animal Science in 1972, and DVM in 1975 from Colorado State University. He is a Diplomate of the American Veterinary Dental College, which he earned in 2007. He is the past president of the American Veterinary Dental Society, and is currently the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Foundation for Veterinary Dentistry. He is director of services for Front Range Veterinary Clinic, and has been in private practice since 1976. His practice expanded to referral dental work in 1995, and he has been receiving referral cases since that time. He is author and co-author of several peer-reviewed articles, and has given numerous presentations to non-professional and professional organizations. He has given numerous in-clinic seminars, dealing with radiology and digital radiography, to other private veterinary clinics. In practice, he has been involved with several research facilities in conducting FDA approved safety and efficacy studies.

His outside interests include sports, such as rugby, where he has previously served as faculty advisor and coach at Colorado State University, racquetball and scuba diving, where he has obtained an advanced diver certification. He is involved with church activities and has served two separate terms as a session member of the Presbyterian Church, and has taken classes on theology through Iliff Seminary in Denver, Colorado. He and his wife are previous co-recipients of the Hineni (We were there) Award at Timnath Presbyterian Church. He has a strong interest in music, sings in the church choir, has played and recorded in a country western band, plays the accordion, acoustic guitar, bass guitar and the piano, and has done vocal recordings with the church.

He has been happily married to Phylis for 32 years and they have three children. Ryan, the oldest has a BS and Masters in Germanic studies, and is currently married and living in Costa Rica, Diana has earned recently a BS in Humanities, and Paul, the youngest is currently in film school at Colorado Film Institute.
